NEWS AND VIEWS . . .

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

Monday evening the Hamlin Schools will be graduating another class of students to go and find their places in our world. While we wish them the best of everything we must apologize to them because we doubt that our school system has done a very good job of preparing them to meet the challenges that they must face.

Fortunately, most of the graduates will be going on to some form of higher education and we can only hope that this will somehow prepare them for the future. But those who either can't or won't seek more education will likely find themselves very short on a means of making a decent living.

It just may well be that our modern, technical world has placed more of a burden on our school system than it can carry. While a high percentage of these students will go on to college and seek their future in the professions, we can only wonder where we are going to get the mechanics, the plumbers, the builders and other trades people that we so badly need.

While we have made no progress locally in this direction we as a state are just beginning to scratch the surface. For too long we have been guilty of going all out to prepare our youngsters for college and the professions but almost ignored the needs of the majority of our students.

We overheard the term "educational welfare" the other day and we suspect that we have far too many students on this type of welfare program. One where we just keep passing the students along until they are old enough to graduate. While in many cases this may be more the fault of the students and parents than it is the school, it still is a problem that we must somehow find an answer to.

When you graduate students that are all but illiterate you are not doing them any favors and at the same time lowering the value of a diploma for everyone that receives it.

Not being an educator, we do not know the answers to this problem but do know that those to whom we have given this responsibility must come up with the answer soon.

By now we are sure that most everyone knows that "City Park Street" or Ave. G has been paved. All of this is thanks to the efforts of Joe Ford and a few other interested citizens. We say few because while many gave to the project only a few and this could probably be limited to Joe himself made this effort to make it all possible.

The last account we had the fund was still short some $700. So if you use the street and have not given, we hope that your conscience will not let you fail to help out.

We extend our personal thanks to Joe for making this successful project possible.

While we are on our soap box we might add that we have noted that we are one of few towns around here that does not have some type of summer program for our young people. Both Stamford and Anson have programs that involve both boys and girls of almost all ages. In Stamford most of the money comes from the taxpayers and in Anson we believe that most of theirs is received from donations.

We have the facilities and only lack the leadership and desire to get something started here. Yes, it would take money, but we believe that it probably could be proven that a summer program would pay for itself in the long run by cutting down on vandalism and other acts of mischievousness.

We believe that some of the money spent only on Little League could be spent on an overall program without hurting LL and at the same time benefitting many more youngsters.

LOOKING OVER COMPLETED PROJECT—Joe Ford and two employees of the Texas Highway Department, Buford Bigham and James Wright, look over the completed paving project on Southwest Avenue G made possible through donations of Hamlin residents. Ford, who spearheaded the project, reports that $750 is needed to take care of the cost of the project.

City Trucks to Run Monday for Annual Clean-up Pickup

Trucks will start Monday picking up trash and debris that is placed in the alley. Only one pick-up is planned and any trash that is placed in the alley after the trucks have run will not be picked up.

A survey of the town revealed that very few people are ready for the pickup, so residents are warned to get their premises cleaned up before Monday.

Neinda Philosopher Thinks He Has Found the Main Cause of All of the Miseries of the U.S.

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One surveys the world situation this week, we think.

Dear editor: After reading every newspaper I could get my hands on during the last few years and after long hard thinking I have figured out why the United States is constantly getting into hot water all over the world, and furthermore I've figured out how to put a stop to it.

The way to put a stop to it is to stop teaching geography. It's a knowledge of geography that gets us into trouble.

According to a newspaper I read last night, the United States has less than 2 per cent of the world's population, and yet we have protective agreements and aid programs with countries scattered all over the globe.

Nobody with that small a percentage should be spreading himself so thin, and we wouldn't if the schools would stop teaching geography.

It's too late for the next few Presidents, but what we eventually need is a President who never has heard of most of the countries on earth.

What we need is somebody who, when the White House gets a telegram from say Afghanistan asking for help before its government topples, turns to a secretary and says, "Afghanistan? Whereabouts in North Dakota is that? Let the Governor handle his own problem."

It's too late to get Congressmen born in a log cabin, but it looks like we ought to be able to find some who grew up without television and never heard of Kubango and don't know whether it's a river or a principality. Don't ask me which either.

We need somebody who, when a delegation arrives in Washington from some unpronounceable foreign country asking for help and advisers, says, "Well, you see, we got this note to meet ourselves, but I hope you have a good trip back to Mississippi."

It's getting financially harder and harder to get to the moon and Southeast Asia at the same time. I don't want to sound like a protester, but I say down with geography.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Neinda Philosopher Takes A Look At the Students, In As Serious A Vein As Possible

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One gets into risky territory this week, but that's his worry. Dear editor:
When you open up a big daily newspaper you never know what you're going to find excusing the front page, and I was flipping through one which turned up out here yesterday when I ran across a picture of a turtle, his head sticking out as he inched up a hill, hanging on the wall behind some official's desk with the motto under it: "You never get anywhere without sticking your neck out."
I got to thinking about this and you know what, how far in the last million years have turtles gotten?
On another page I found a report of a speech made by a student leader who said the purpose of all the college demonstrations is to "turn this country around." I guess if the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards swapped positions it'd be all right, but you see I've got this fireplace out here on this Johnson grass farm with a chimney that works fine when the wind is out of the north but smokes when it's out of the south, which is all right because with a south wind blowing I don't need a fire, but if the students are going to make the wind blow south in the winter . . . Of course, what they mean I guess is that they're going to turn people around, but I'm not sure about that either. What I mean is, from as esthetic standpoint, most of us don't look any better coming than going. Say, speaking of students, I'm all for their drive to clean up the environment everywhere except where they've been demonstrating; when they run out of litter in the cities I've got some out here ready to be picked up, but I was just thinking, have you noticed that in their drive to eliminate the causes of litter, such as throw-away cans and bottles, they've been picketing sodawater plants, not breweries? Them kids ain't so dumb. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Old Glory
By Bernice D. White

VARIETY CLUB
Members of the Old Glory Variety Club enjoyed an all-day quilting for Mrs. A. R. Sawyers and a short Mother's Day program in the home of Mrs. E. H. Diers Tuesday of last week. They appreciated a visitor, Mrs. Cliff Gholson, who helped them quilt. Members present were Mmes. Katie Gerloff, Charlie Letz, Garrett Spitzer, Lynn Flowers, Beno Hertenberger and the hostess.
Supt. Dalton Gill and County Superintendent - elect George Rhoades attended a meeting on the study of crime and narcotics at Abilene Christian College last Thursday.
Two from Old Glory School were elected as officers for the Stonewall County Unit of the State Teachers Association for next year at the group's final meeting for this term held at Frazier's Cafe in Aspermont on Monday of last week. They are Mrs. L. W. Norman, first vice president, and Terry P. Sellers, second vice president. From Aspermont, Troy Gauntt was elected president, Evelyn Sharpe, secretary and Nelda Blagg treasurer.
For the program, Mrs. L. W. Norman presented color slides and commentary on her tour of Switzerland and Germany last fall.
Six-year olds who are planning to enter school for the first time at Old Glory next fall are Richard Burciago, Laura Castro, Paul Cox, Mitzi Dunham, Mitch Gill, Brian Jones, Lanham Martin, Melissa Meier, Denise Pierce and Tom Lee Rhoades. Rita Baldree has finished her Beauty course at Glen and Lottie's School of Beauty in Abilene and has been offered a position at Keith's Beauty Salon in Abilene, where Francel Boles Howerton will be manager. Mrs. Jeff Wofford, also a former resident of Old Glory, is also employed at Keith's.
Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Tredemeyer Jr., attended the Baccalaureate Sunday and graduation on Monday at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene where their son Charles received his degree in business. Charles has been employed by the Atcheson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company and his headquarters will be in Sweetwater. On Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Tredemeyer were in Abilene and saw their granddaughter, Pam Letz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Letz of Abilene, win the second runner-up in the La Petite contest there.

Doug Vahlenkamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Vahlenkamp, was one of those confirmed at Faith Lutheran Church in Sagerton recently. After the confirmation services members of the Vahlenkamp family met at the Old Glory Son's of Herman Hall for a celebration in his honor and also to honor six others in the group on their birthdays that were occurring about this time. Mrs. Lewis Corzine of Stamford baked a Birthday cake with the name of each honoree inscribed in the icing. Those of the Vahlenkamp family who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vahlenkamp, and son Marvin and their daughter Mrs. Larry Brown and her children; Mr. and Mrs. Oren Baldree, Mike, Rita, Susie and Marcene, Mike, and Mrs. Eugene Vahlenkamp and children, Mr. and Mrs. Virgie Vahlenkamp and children of Waco. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Corzine and children of Stamford, and Mrs. and Mrs. Curtis Weise and children of Haskell. There were also several other relatives and friends of the family present.

Mr. and Mrs. David Letz report that their daughter, Cindy, was badly shaken up and narrowly escaped serious injury in the recent tornado at Lubbock. Cindy is employed by Pearless Products Inc. on 4th Street in Lubbock. Her apartment which she shares with a girl friend is located on 9th street. Both were in the path of the tornado. Cindy heard on T. V. that large hail was expected to hit the area, so she decided to take her car and store in a garage at the building where she works, a friend followed in another car to take her back home, but while they were in the building the storm hit. They ran into one of the smaller rooms and took shelter under a desk. Luckily, even though the building was badly damaged, that part was not hit and so Cindy and her friend were not injured. But, even after the storm, it was still a task to get out of there in the dark with electric lines and buildings torn down and water knee deep in the streets. When she got back to her apartment, it had escaped damage though many houses in the neighborhood had been destroyed. Mrs. Letz reports Cindy's car was damaged, but adds "I just thank God she came out of there alive." She spent several days last week here with her parents.

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Flowers included their nephew, Rex Flowers of Stephenville on Monday, last Friday and Saturday her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. King of an Angelo, visited with them, and they were joined on Saturday by her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Macon of Rule.
Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Klump and Mrs. Margie Mischer were their sister-in-law, Mrs. Garland Franklin of Antlers, Okla., and a niece and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Buck Mathis of Portales, N. Mex.

Drivers License School Approved

Chief of Police Bryan Wasson announces that he has received approval from the Department of Public Safety for a Drivers License School. The date will be announced later, he said. It is believed that the school will be sometime in July, however.

A number of people have already expressed a desire for the school; but there seems to be little interest from Spanish speaking people. An instructor in Spanish will be available if enough interest is shown.

Anyone interested in the school should contact Chief Wasson.

Just a few days ago there were two young business men in Hamlin looking for a location for a new business. They had been viewing several other West Texas towns and came to the concluding that Hamlin was the best deal after all is said and done that they could find. So about June 10th, Mr. P. J. White of Ovalo and Mr. T. M. Pee, of Lawu will open up a stock of general hardware goods in one of the James buildings and the company will be known as the Hamlin Hardware Company.

Messrs. White and Pee were here Sunday looking after residence property to rent. They say that they are coming to Hamlin to make good and want a good location for their home.

On Wednesday evening of this week a joint recital was given by the Music and Expression Department that proved a real treat to all who appreciate fine art work.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(May 26, 1950)

The Herald has been confronted with varied rumors as to the 1950 population figure that would be chalked up for Hamlin in the census just taken.

Wednesday the Bureau of Census was called in Abilene and Mr. Pulver of that office graciously provided us with definite figures.

The census count for Hamlin is 3,564, according to the returns on file in the Abilene office.

Pulver assured The Herald that these figures were subject to revision and that a revised total would probably have an upward trend if it followed the pattern of returns already compiled.

It was explained that some instances of duplication would be uncovered where families were in transit here and would originally have been credited to another or former home community.

On the basis of the 1940 census for Hamlin, which was set at 2406, this would reflect a growth of 1,158 souls for Hamlin in the ten year period.

A report on the totals for Anson and Stamford was not available at the time the Hamlin figures were obtained. An effort was being made to furnish Stamford with results of the count on the same day, but Pulver was unable to divulge the totals.

In a hurried series of interviews on the streets of Hamlin, a Herald representative asked for estimates of what the totals would be. Most of the citizens questioned ventured a guess in the 4,000-4,500 range.

Most accurate of the estimators were Stanley Carmichael and Mrs. Jess Young both of whom set a flat 3,500 as their guess.

Most optimistic of the group was Charles Gardner with a 5,599 estimate.

May 25 Set As Target Date for The Start of Area Cotton Planting

The target date for starting cotton planting this year is the week beginning May 25, according to Charles Bragg, executive vice president of Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

"We have taken a survey of farmers in a 60-mile radius of our headquarters," Bragg said, "and the consensus seems to be that May 25 to June 1 is the optimum planting date. Many farmers would have preferred to begin planting on June 1 but felt cooperation will be better on the earlier date."

Bragg emphasized that this period is only a target date. Every community should base its decision on soil temperature, local moisture conditions, five day weather forecasts and probably most important what the majority of farmers in the community want."

"Whatever date is chosen — stay together," Bragg said. Selection of the planting date is one of the most important managerial decisions a farmer makes each year. Uniform planting within a short period of time is of tremendous economic importance to the community. Boll weevils depend almost entirely on the fruit of the cotton plant for their food supply. Without food, they will not multiply at their usual rapid rate.

"Normally, a cotton plant begins squaring about 40 days after planting and squares reach the one-third grown stage 10 days later," the cotton executive explained. "Overwintering weevils do not destroy squares or lay eggs until the squares are one-third grown. A uniform planting date in late May allows weevils to be out of his hibernation and more easily controlled by community early season spraying programs before the insect population has a chance to build."

Other advantages of the late May planting date are numerous. Planting too early encourages more weed growth and increases costs of making the crop. Uniform planting dates allow gins, compresses, warehousemen and oil mills to process the crop with a minimum of labor, which results in lower costs and greater profits for all. Shorter gin seasons usually mean better quality fiber, more active markets, higher selling prices.

"Uniform planting dates are just one of the many ways RCG farmers can work together to increase production," Bragg says.

Students Planning To Work Must Have SS Cards

Thousands of students across the country will go to work for the first time this summer. If you are one of these, you will need your social security number card, according to R. T. Tuley, Jr., district manager in Abilene.

You must apply for a social security account number to get this card. The number on that card is used to keep your record throughout life. No two persons are given the same number.

Your employer will ask for your number as soon as you begin work, and many companies will not hire you until you have a number. If you are a young man about to go into military service, your military records will all be recorded by use of your social security number.

To get a number, or to replace a lost card, you must complete an Application for a Social Security Account Number and submit it to a social security office. The application form may be obtained at any social security office, or post office in your town.
